With the world connected through the internet, false information can spread across the globe in less than a minute. A positive way to respond to this serious dilemma is to provide communities with access to real information, written by experts, fact-checked and designed to inform and educate. The collection of quality resources in eLibraryUSA is well-known throughout North America and Europe and meets the standards of publishers, academics, journalists, and media companies.

eLibraryUSA is completely free of charge to use at American Spaces.

eLibraryUSA is sponsored by the Office of American Spaces, U.S. Department of State, in partnership with the U.S. Embassy.

Visit your nearest American Space to learn how you can access eLibraryUSA.

Fake information helps the few.
Real information helps the many.

eLibraryUSA is a digital collection of trusted information resources from the United States with quality newspapers, magazines, journals, books, dissertations and award-winning films and videos.
Students, academics, and professionals use Academic OneFile for their research and information needs. Academic OneFile is a reliable resource for information on biology, history, chemistry, marketing, political science, economics, psychology, environmental science, and criminal justice.

Via a search engine, readers can search and read full-text articles from more than 17,000 scholarly journals, magazines, newspapers, and reports. The database even includes speeches.

JSTOR is one of the most well-known and respected online libraries of academic periodicals and books found in North America. It is heavily used by researchers and is found in most university libraries in the United States.

Via the search engine, readers can search and read academic journals and books in the following areas: business and economics, history, law, medicine, science, the humanities, and social sciences.

PressReader is a true “digital newsstand.” This extremely popular database contains 400 of the most read newspapers and magazines from around the world.

A bonus is PressReader’s easy, traditional format, which allows users to read the digital copy as if they were reading the print version.

With the Flipster database, readers can browse or read the full text of 17 of the most popular magazines from the United States.

These titles include National Geographic, Popular Science, Entrepreneur, Wired, Forbes, Reader’s Digest, The New Yorker, and American Craft.

Ask the staff at your site about Kanopy films!

- Documentary Videos on American Society and Culture
- From science to business, from history to art, there is a video for everyone in the Kanopy collection.

The Digital Literacy library is a how-to resource for anyone who needs to quickly build digital media skills. Through online lessons, users can learn how to create podcasts, public service announcements, multimedia presentations, digital business plans, and social media campaigns.

Teachers, librarians, students, youth, or anyone interested in developing digital skills will find this resource valuable.

Opposing Viewpoints in Context is an easy-to-use information resource for students, teachers, professors, subject experts, lawyers, lawmakers, or anyone who needs to quickly learn the different perspectives for a major topic.

Summaries of opposing viewpoints are provided for key topics such as business and economics; energy and environment; health and medicine; law and politics; science and technology; U.S. society and culture; war; and diplomacy. Each summary is written by an expert.

American History in Video is an online library of documentaries, newsreels, and television clips of key events in U.S. history and about famous Americans.

Each video includes a transcript that allows viewers to both read the narration and watch the video.

* For Viewing Groups Only